

The background of the slide is an abstract, textured pattern of blue and white brushstrokes, creating a sense of movement and depth. The colors range from light, airy blues to deep, rich teals and dark blues, with white highlights that suggest light reflecting off a wet or layered surface.

What do Biology Alumni do After Graduation?

Miranda Meents

Sessional Instructor, Teaching and Learning Fellow

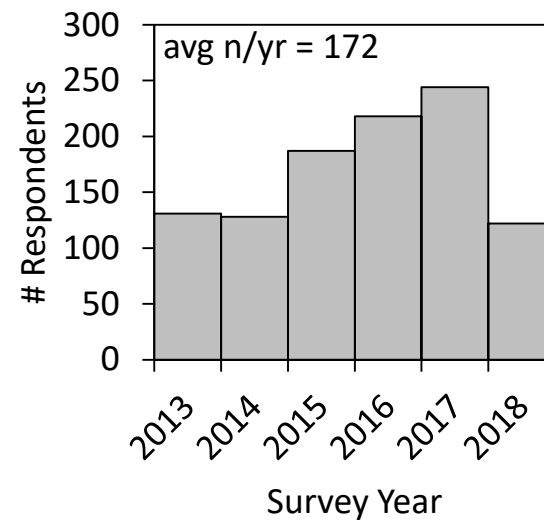

Data Sources

LinkedIn Data

- Additional education and employment
- Biology vs Non-Biology fields

Baccalaureate Surveys

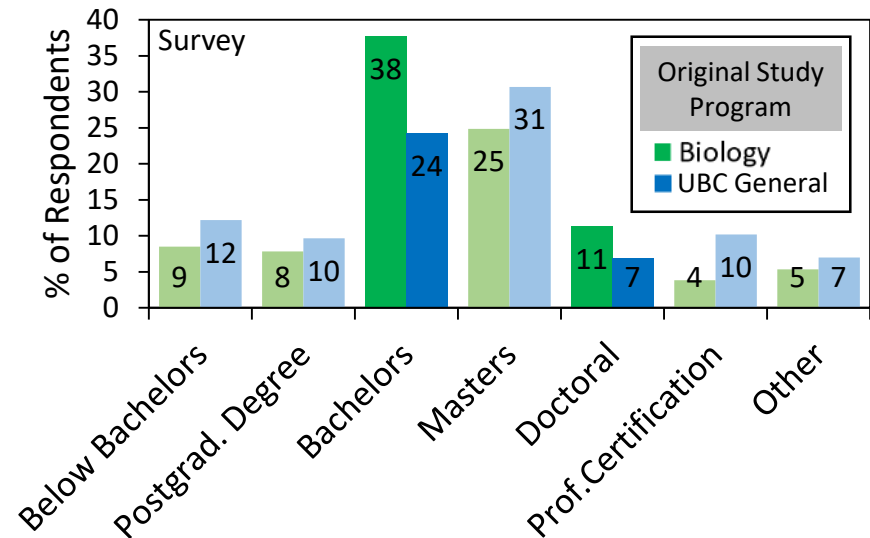

- BC Government survey
- Education and employment (2 years after graduation)
- Biology Grads vs All UBC Grads.

Alumni Often Seek Additional Training

LinkedIn: 72% of alumni listed some kind of additional training.

Survey: 71% of Biology alumni took further education, compared to 53% of all UBC graduates.

What Kind of Training ?

48% of graduates get additional training in biology.

Type of Training	Biology-Related	Non-Biology
Bachelors (25%)	nursing, public health, midwifery, dietetics, forensic science, pharmacy, psychology, education	computer science, engineering, accounting, marketing
Graduate School (25%) (Masters/PhD)	biology, neuroscience, public health, sustainable development, environmental science, bioinformatics, occupational therapy, physical therapy	business administration (MBA), management, data science, law, engineering
Professional School (15%)	medical school, dental school, pharmacy	law school
Certificate/Diploma (15%)	medical lab tech, business administration, pharmacy	accounting, event management, human resources

Alumni Employment Outcomes

Survey: Only 55% of Biology graduates work in a field related to their program, compared to 70% for all UBC graduates.

LinkedIn: Only 58% of alumni work in a field related to Biology.

Biology-Related

healthcare: administration, medical doctor, nurse, dentist, pharmacist, psychologist, chiropractor, midwife, dietician, occupational therapist, medical lab technologist biology research: researcher (academia, industry, government), technician education: teacher, tutor, university administrator communication/outreach: artist, climate change activist, community engagement, science fair foundation, government policy

Non-Biology

business: management, entrepreneur, marketing, analyst, assistant, project manager, sales technology: software/web developer

finance: accountant, banker, financial advisor

law/other: lawyer, engineer, service industry

What are the Important Skills?

Training
by UBC

Usefulness in Job

Take Home Message

What kinds of work do you want to do?

- More than 50% of alumni work in a field unrelated to biology.
- Nearly 30% of alumni work in healthcare-related fields.

What kinds of training do you need?

- Almost 75% of alumni get additional training.
- Consider communication skills (written and oral) and people skills (group collaboration, problem resolution)

What can you do to help build these skills now?

- Courses, workshops, volunteering, clubs, paid work
- Treat these skill-building opportunities seriously

The background of the slide is an abstract composition of thick, expressive brushstrokes in various shades of blue and white. The strokes are layered and textured, creating a sense of depth and movement. A white rectangular box with slightly rounded corners is centered horizontally, containing the word "Questions?".

Questions?

Miranda Meents

Sessional Instructor, Teaching and Learning Fellow